FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PARENTS, YOU'VE GOT YOUR CHILDREN INTO COLLEGE NOW HELP KEEP THEM THERE!

National award winning speaker, author and Peak Performance expert Rosalind Henderson has authored the hot selling book, The College Success Book. Almost 40% of college students drop out by their sophomore year. Only 33% of minority students graduate from college. The book addresses this issue by teaching high school and college students self-help strategies, practical tips to help boost grades and techniques for overcoming self-limiting habits.

A product of her own message, Rosalind Henderson grew up in a tough part of South Central, Los Angeles. "I managed to graduate from high school, but my transition into college was very rocky. I wasted time and became quite frustrated. After a few months in college, I was at the end of my rope facing poor grades. Desperate, I decided to develop strategies to help me succeed in college." Henderson credits her academic success to the strategies she shares in The College Success Book.

Moreover, Henderson has interviewed countless college alumni, current and graduate college students, Drs. of education and psychologists to bring you the most cutting-edge information on success practices.

Dr. Young, former president of the Inglewood School Board states, "This book will revolutionize your life like never before. And so, I highly endorse this outstanding book." The student testimonials speak for themselves. One returning college student comments, "I carry this book in my purse. After returning to college after 40, I realize that I would have never dropped out if I would have read the strategies in the College Success Book decades earlier!"

The success of Henderson's book has garnered much recognition. Moreover, after sixteen years of teaching elementary, high school, college students, and adults, she has been a five time recipient of the Who's Who in Teaching, a prestigious award bestowed to 5% of teachers nationwide. This attests to her ability to reach students.
